

We know you can

Imagine waking to the sight of macaws flying side by side past your balcony while a family of toucans ferrets breakfast from your mango tree. Rays of warm sunshine break through the boughs of your lush surroundings as ocean breezes summon hundreds of Costa Rica's most valuable species to begin their day. Then you stretch to the orchestral sounds of nature to begin another day in paradise.

As you gaze out over the crystalline waters of the Pacific Ocean you contemplate your day.

Shopping in San José? At just a little over an hour's drive from Lomas de Carara, it's an easy commute. How about boating, golfing, hiking or horseback riding to the highest waterfall in Costa Rica? It's all minutes away. Or stay home and enjoy some of the best bird watching and wildlife observation the world has to offer and it is just steps from your front door.

Peace and tranquility surrounded by stunning natural beauty and luxury, these are the hallmarks of Lomas de Carara. Experienced Dutch developers chose this lush, vast piece of paradise specifically for its shared borders with one of Costa Rica's richest wildlife preserves, Carara National Park. The park, which hosts approximately 6000 visitors per month, is one of the last remaining dry tropical forests in the world and is home to hundreds of rare and thriving species of birds, plants and mammals. In addition to being its neighbor Lomas de Carara is an extension of the national park.

LOMAS DE CARARA
RESORT COMMUNITY

We believe that it's possible to enjoy an unparalleled proximity to nature without sacrificing one's lifestyle choice. That's what we had in mind when we created the concept of a sophisticated eco-development. The primary feature of Lomas de Carara's philosophy is the balance between nature and development. While we strive to make every possible amenity available to our residents, we make extensive efforts to protect nature by not harming the land. Accessibility, and amenities surrounded by a 360 degree unobstructed panorama of the ocean and rainforest completes our vision of a luxury sustainable development.

Let us help you realize your dream.

The Lomas de Carara Gated Communities offer two and three bedroom lay-outs in secure luxury villas, townhouses and condominiums in a range of budgets and styles that will depend on your personal taste. Our Colonial, Mediterranean and Mission architectural styles are intricately thought out to create a feeling of ample living spaces that commune with the natural surroundings. Our pre-designed plans allow for re-structuring to fit each owners individual tastes and needs. Each residential community will contain it's own pool and common areas.

Make your dream work for you.

It's no secret that the Central Pacific Coast of Costa Rica has experienced tremendous growth over the last few years and will continue to do so as more resort communities establish themselves.
